

The Floating World

by Celia Sage

Questions to consider, discuss, or journal.

Reflecting back on March 2020, as the writer shares her vivid memories, what stands out to you from that time early in the pandemic?

In considering the Apocalypse we are living through, what has been uncovered or revealed you to in your life?

What strikes you about the analogy of the image of The Floating World? What do you identify with? What can our floating world teach us about the Divine?

How do you cope with uncertainty and quiet the voice of the “what ifs”? What do you do when our Floating World seems to be breaking?

In our humility we can come to our God with radical trust. What does radical trust look like in your life?
